George's Theatre—Grosvenor and other comic audiences have enjoyed the "Grosvenor Bawn" every night since its appearance. To-night it will be presented for the last time, with its regular cast. All who have seen it should go to see it again, and it should be repaid for their trouble and expense. The comedy is well worth the attention, not only of the public generally, but also of connoisseurs of the arts, and especially of politicians. The story of Mr. Collier's life after his release from prison is a good one. The Army Captain, the Minister, and the Minister's wife, are very creditable parts of acting, and never fail to receive the hearty plaudits of their auditors. Those who intend seeing the comedy, should not wait for to-morrow, but go to-day. Large numbers failed to gain admittance on Saturday, and to-morrow, May 21, we may learn that one night in the many parts of America where the play has been presented, the audience has been so large that the door was closed, and the curtain was drawn by force. The play is now in its twenty-second act, a scene in which there is a rope by which she was severely injured. We hope the girl will be brought up to date, and come back to us again.

On Monday, the entire company will appear in standard comedy and Yankee comedies.

LAWRENCE GATE—The celebrated Dr. Orton, who has given some excellent performances in the window, and still longer in the gallery, will appear on Monday evening at 8 P.M. at the Drury, on Washington Street, introducing a number of scientific and historical subjects.

Our Ovens will open again to-day, and will have prices of admission according to all. Seats can be secured at between the hours of 10 A.M. and 1 P.M. without extra charge. The Travellers will also appear in a grand instrumental and vocal concert.

Admiral Morris' grand concert, giving here every afternoon by the band, is in the city. A delightful retreat for days. Cooling and invigorating beverages, and bright light of music and art.

CONFIDENTIAL—WEDNESDAY NIGHT AND CIVIL RIGHTS

It will be recited that Gen. Wadsworth had directed Marshal Lamm to tell him so, ever a contraband, with a military protection, is claimed as a fugitive slave, that he may have an opportunity to escape to the North. The General, in his speech, said that he had been a fugitive for two or three years, and named Albert Gandy, who had a military protection, was arrested by one of the gins of negro-sabotage who infest this city, and claimed by a man in Maryland, believed to be his master, his wife. He was released. Gen. Wadsworth was told of the fact, but before he had opportunity to investigate the matter, the fugitive had been taken by his "owner."

On Thursday, Gen. Wadsworth had informed him that he had been taken by his "owner," and believed to be a fugitive slave, to the property of a rebel, was committed to jail by the commandant, under the fugitive slave law, to be returned to his master. Accordingly he had his father, No. 331 New York avenue, to speak to the commandant, and demand his release from the jail and demand the surrender of the fugitive to the military authorities, and if the demand was refused, to place a guard around the jail to prevent the fugitive from being removed.

The Dr. Bonfield Milburn, refused to obey the order, stating that the only orders he could obey were the Marshal's (Gen. Lamm). Mr. Milburn sent word to Mr. Phillips to know what course he should pursue, and work was sent back not to obey the order until the Major General should give him permission to do so.

Dr. White is doing an important business. In the course of his work, he has to be in communication with the commandant, and he has no opportunity to do so. As a consequence, he has no opportunity to do so.

Some of the guards that were up in the prison and released the women, who was taken to the Provost Marshal's office.

Josephine, Mrs. Brown, a woman, for the purpose of getting a military protection, and over to the jail, when she was informed that she might consider herself under arrest. James M. Urioste, Mr. Rodriguez, a colonel of the military, and three gentlemen from the country were present to witness the ceremony.

Mr. Phillips and Milburn were then sent to the central office, the guard remaining with them by the residence of Major Urioste and Bradley, and their families, and informed of the state of affairs. A messenger was sent to Gen. Lamm, who came, who informed him that he could not give any military protection, and he was not able to get any protection.

Some of the guards that were up in the prison and released the women, who was taken to the Provost Marshal's office.
